DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 6-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Vidal et al. (6,215,754).

Vidal et al. discloses the invention as claimed. Figs. 1A-2B show the CD player (capable of being used in a car CD player, see column 5, lines 20-24) having: the memory (24, 50 or 52) in the form of a of hard disk (CD) for storing audio signals in one of a compressed form and an uncompressed form (compressed for example by MPEG compression, see columns 1 and 5); the decompression stage (done by the MPEG decoder chip 28); and the additional code detector stage for checking whether the data is compressed or noncompressed and reproducing the information based on the type of information (specifics details relating to playing the audio CD is not described, however column 5, line 55-column 6, line 38 describes briefly the ability of playing conventional CDs and column 5 describes decompressing and playing the MPEG CD), as set forth in the claims. See the description of the apparatus and figures for further details relating to the limitations as set forth in the claims.
